

VENTURES

Bio

Ventures, the explosive metalcore outfit from Manchester, England, burst onto the scene in 2017, and they haven't looked back since. With their debut song "42," released the same year, they showcased their raw power and undeniable talent.

In 2018, Ventures released their self-titled EP, further solidifying their presence in the metalcore realm. The EP was a relentless assault of aggressive riffs, fierce vocals, and thunderous drums. Audiences were captivated by tracks like "Paradise Lost" and "Legs," which showcased the band's ability to seamlessly blend melody and brutality.

The following year, Ventures unleashed the "Solitude" EP, diving into darker and more introspective themes. Tracks such as "I Bring The Diamonds, You Bring The War" and "Solitude" displayed their musical growth, incorporating haunting melodies and thought-provoking lyrics. Ventures proved their versatility and ability to connect with listeners on a deeper level.

In 2022, the band continued their sonic onslaught with the release of "Error 404." This hard-hitting EP showcased their evolution and maturation as musicians. Tracks like "Black & White" and "Cold Code" revealed Ventures' ability to blend bone-crushing breakdowns with captivating melodies, solidifying their status as a force to be reckoned with.

Ventures have left their mark on the live music scene as well, having graced prestigious venues such as Satans Hollow, Rebellion, and The Key Club. Sharing stages with notable acts including I Set My Friends on Fire, Wars, Only the Righteous, TheCityIsOurs, RXPTRS, and Virtue in Vain, Ventures have proven their ability to hold their own among industry heavyweights.

Their talent and dedication were recognized in 2020 when they emerged victorious in the first round of Metal 2 The Masses, a testament to their unwavering commitment and musicianship. Although the global Covid-19 pandemic interrupted live performances, Ventures used the time to refine their sound and prepare for their inevitable return.

VENTURES : SOLITUDE

With a track titled 'Solitude', it's hard not to imagine this dangerously playing into the hands of the lazy stereotype of a teenage metalhead angry at the world, headbanging in their bedroom alone. Instead, five-piece Manchester Metal band Ventures deliver a track that will surely be a standout live stir up the circle pits in a homecoming venue like Satans Hollow.

Opening up with a melodic guitar riff, this is a clear contrast with what follows for the remainder of the track, which is scream-heavy in the verses and cleaner in the chorus. The structure of the song doesn't do much to evolve from the formulaic nature of the metalcore genre, think mid-2000s Asking Alexandria or As I Lay Dying, but this is a band that clearly knows their audience, and cares enough about their craft to wear their influences on their sleeve.

There are some notable production values to highlight here. Upon first listen, the double bass drumming and crushing lead guitar really drives the song forward, but instead, it's the underlying bass riff that really stands out with frontman Ollie's vocals, which range from sharp screams to a massive chorus that will be a staple in their live sets.

Whilst the track doesn't quite blow the sharks out of the water that Parkway Drive screamed about in their seminal track 'Boneyards', it's solid enough to justify the lyrics "Stay With Me" consistently throughout.
